FROM YOUR EDITOR'S DESK

You have probably noted our new cover format and name "Coin News," we hope you like them. With due respects, any similarity with other publications is unintentional. Our name and format is registered and copyrighted in Congress. We feel this will help our hobby as well as increase interest in sales and circulation. Our former name being unique gave little in the way of information of the type publication it was. In a sense it was, I feel, a handicap in our growth. "Coin News" is obvious two simple words but it tells a lot, anyone interested in this field will pick it up. We have been sending a number of copies to a national distributing company who have been distributing our copies to some 400 newstands throughout the country. We feel this will contribute to our hobby with many new collectors.

With this issue many collectors will have time to get back to their collection, buy, sell and trade for their needs. As prices increase in our economy so have the coins gone up to new highs. It is expected they will continue on higher, better improve your collection now!

Note it isn't necessary to send cuts, our publication will be done in offset, a clear sharp photo is all that is needed. If you intend to use a gloss photo in your ad there will be a charge of $3. if it has to be enlarged or reduced. No charge if it is used as is.

Don't forget September 12, the Newark Coin Convention, at the YW-YMCA. We will have a table there. There will be about 38 dealers with their rare coins-currency for sale. Display and exhibits of rare collections. Remember Saturday, September 12, 9 a.m.-10 p.m., in the modern air conditioned "Y," 600 Broad Street in Newark.

"Coin News" now reaches to Venezuela, South America. Subscription was received from Angel Perruolo, commissioner of General Motors. As "Big Joe" our noted rare coin collector and Director of the WABC radio program "Happiness Exchange" of New York City would say, Mayree (Marie) stick a pin in the map for Venezuela.

A Disappointing Book Review—It isn't our policy to degrade an honest effort to write a book nor is it our policy to cover up for it. Several months ago we received a coin book from a writer for review. I have not mentioned the review as in my opinion and a few others is that it was poorly done. A prominent writer and authority on numismatics viewed this book. I have omitted publishing his review as the contents may be misunderstood. A few publications have mentioned the review with excuses, etc. This doesn't alter the fact that it is misleading to the beginner collector. For this writer to produce such a book with numerous errors is surprising to me as he is in a position of being an authority by writing a weekly Coin Column for a leading newspaper in Illinois. I recall receiving another previous work of his which also had many errors. The title of the book in question is purposely omitted from this column, should you come across it you will know what I mean. It is my unpleasant duty to say it is one of the worst writings with a professional touch. I appreciate the author's honest effort to contribute to our hobby, but it seems to me he should be more conscientious with errors that are a serious misguidance to the beginner. I will venture to say a beginner might catch some of the obvious errors.

I ask, in the future, writers wishing their works reviewed by this publication not to send it in unless they are ready to accept the honest opinion of good or bad. Also, the items should be accompanied with a written statement signed, authorizing the publication's remarks.

This book which sells for $2.95 is of good quality material, but its contents are obviously of an uninformed person. Had this book been reviewed by an average collector, I doubt if it would have been published due to the errors. Unless the author has no respect for its readers by dumping it on the market for self-satisfaction, rather than contributing to the advancement of the hobby.

BIBLE QUOTATION ON NEW ISRAEL COIN

The five pound commemorative coin to be issued by Israel this spring features the Biblical quotation, "... and the people shall return to their homeland." This reference to the important ingathering of the exiles serves to point up one of Israel's more important projects. This third coin in Israel's commemorative series will be sold officially at 10 pounds and will be available mint uncirculated and in limited quantities in proof. The coin is the same size as the 10th Anniversary commemorative coin issued in April 1958 and the obverse of this new coin will be the same as the 10th Anniversary issue except for the date, which will read 5719 (1959).

It was designed by Miriam Karoly, who is already well known for her many unique designs for Israel stamps. In addition to the Bible quotation, it shows the exiles from all over the world symbolically joining hands and marching to their new home in Israel.

Like the 10th Anniversary coin, a lettered edge (in Hebrew) will be utilized. The coin will be minted in 900 fine silver metal. The mint to be utilized for the striking of this coin has not yet been selected. The first commemorative coin was struck at the Royal Mint in Utrecht, The Netherlands, and the most recent Chanukah (Knowledge is Light) coin was struck in Switzerland.

The exact date of issue will be announced later, according to Jacques Minkus, head of the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The Israel Philatelic Agency handles the distribution of all Israel coins to bona fide stamp and coin dealers in the United States and Canada.

1955 DOUBLE DIE SHIFT CENT SOARING IN PRICE!!

The cover photo shows why this new variety is popular with the collector, it's expected to reach new highs in price and interest. One reason is dealers are already willing to pay book prices for them, another is the Cent is the most popular item collected. With many collectors seeking them there aren't many to go around and no set will be complete without it. For example the 1909 SVDB mintage is 484,000 and is the most sought of coin in this series. The 1955 Double Die Shift with no actual record of the number struck is estimated by many dealers to be in the area of 2,000-5,000. With the possible pieces being lost, mutilated and circulated there aren't many around, plus the fact of reports of them being found through the country. They should be well circulated by now. Compare these figures and you will see they are very scarce. If you're inclined to find one instead of purchasing one, don't do it, buy one! If you are fortunate to find one you can always sell it for a higher price later. I have had about a dozen of these since 1956, but sold or traded them from $6. to $50. At this writing I can truthfully say I don't have a one left, but I will make it my business to try to get all I can before they skyrocket more than they already have. One dealer reported a sale listing of $125. for B.U. I believe there are three (3) words which answers most price values; they are, "Supply, Demand and Availability."

This interesting error occurred during the making of the die not in the striking. All working dies are made from the master die, when a working die is ready to be made it is annealed so that it won't be hard or brittle and the steel will take on the best features. The master die is given several blows on to the working die or hub. It is during this process that due to a die not being properly annealed, left it hard thus a few blows on a hard surface could cause it to bounce or shift slightly. This error wasn't caught until later; one source said a bag (5,000) was put aside, but was accidentally shipped to a Federal Reserve Bank. Massachusetts was the area where they were first found in a quantity of 2 to 24, since then they have been cropping up in different parts of the country. To date I have seen or known of about only 300 pieces, these are from conventions, ads, collectors and dealers. How many were actually struck or available, your guess is as good as mine.

A HISTORY OF CANADIAN DIMES

By Starr Gilmore

Canadian dime mintage began with 1858 and all coins for this year are of the Province of Canada. Only a small coinage was required and it was not until 1870 that they were again minted. It should be understood that prior to 1908, all Canadian coins were put out either by the Tower Mint or by the one of Heaton at Birmingham, England. Those of the Tower Mint have no mark on them, similar to our own of Philadelphia, but those of Heaton's show the letter "H" below the center of the wreath ribbon.

Familiarity being once established with the wreath design, the artists responsible for the series become easy enough to remember. Wyon's reverse came to an end in 1936 and Theed executed a model for the effigy of Queen Victoria which the former engraved. De Saulles is responsible for King Edward's effigy and Sir Bertram Mackennal for the one of George V. The initials of the last two appear on the obverses of their design.

As long as England minted the dimes, she turned them out of 925 fineness, the same being true of her own coins. Canada continued to do the same until 1935, when she went over to the present 800 standard. Mint Reports are not too clear on the subject but the change is mentioned in the 1935 Report. With further regard to fineness, the dimes of 800 alloy nearly always rank next to the dollars and now and then they have been first.

It should be remembered that there was no mint in Ottawa until the year 1908. When set up, it was termed the Ottawa Branch of the Royal Mint and it began operations on January 2nd in the year given. It lasted until November 30th, 1931, and the present Royal Canadian Mint dates from December 1st, 1931. Canada still depends upon England for some of her coin work. Witness, for example, the new 50 cent reverse of Thomas Shingles, at one time Chief Engraver of the Royal Canadian Mint. Further, England has made a large number of master dies for Canada, and one occasion even saw the execution of a few by the Paris Mint.

When in brilliant uncirculated, the maple wreath dimes are truly little gems, but they are also gems not too easy to get. The last issues are now and then seen in circulation, some of them in quite good condition. But as we are all aware, they are gradually being gathered in and will in the near future be no longer seen.

Collectors who may wish to collect the 1936 "Dot" are welcome to the opportunity as I am perfectly satisfied with mine which has no such distinction. A dime that sells for $2,000 can hardly command the interest of but very few. The dots seem never to have gotten on the coins, or if they did, they fell off at a very early stage.

Although I am not at all inclined to complain about Canadian coins, I nevertheless feel that the dimes beginning with 1937 are the least satisfactory of all the coins starting with the year mentioned. It is my belief that the maple wreath type is decidedly better and there are many others who will share my opinion.

Designed by Emanuel Hahn who recently died in Toronto, February 14th, 1957, his initial appears on it as an exceedingly small "H" on the left hand side. The initials of Mary Gillick, unlike those of Henry Paget, appear on the bottom of the neck of Queen Elizabeth in letters of such infinitesimal size as very nearly to defy detection. They are not too easy to see on the dollar and the coin must be held on a slant to bring them out. The curious who examine the coin will soon see what I mean.

One thing that is wrong centers about the relief that is given the ship. Being so low, it makes the coin of very flat appearance and it is my understanding that the artist was not entirely pleased with it. To effect betterment in the relief would require a great deal of work that probably would not be worth the time and trouble. The dates are small, difficult to read, and when they become smudged, very hard indeed. And when coins of this kind are poorly struck, all defects naturally become apparent in much more detail.

But however much these things may be true, there is no doubt about one thing: Emanuel Hahn chose the one ship for his design that any of us would highly approve. The schooner depicted is the famous Bluenose which created a sensation when she sailed the seas in her best days. She was launched in 1921, won practically all of the races in which she engaged, and surely she would have been the envy of Sir Thomas Lipton. Unhappily enough, her later history was anything but romantic. She sank to the lowly status of a coal barge and finally perished off the coast of Haiti in 1946.

Other things which center about this dime and its ship design are of interest. Canadian maritime history came to an end after 200 years; that is, as related to sailing ships, and looked at in this way, the coin may be considered a kind of commemorative. And it further reminds us of the fact that Canada has an active fishing industry on both the Atlantic and Pacific. For longer than most of us now realize, the fishing banks of Newfoundland supported an immense number of sail ships.

Of all the dimes in the second series, the 1948 is the most desired and the most expensive for it begins at $1.00 and reaches $10.00 if brilliant uncirculated. Its coinage figure of 422,741 is absurdly low for a piece of this type and greatly increases the difficulty of getting it. Although they are certainly in circulation, few of them indeed are picked up in this way and I personally know of none who have done so. The difficulty of date reading has doubtless kept a great many from going through bank rolls who would otherwise do so.

Figures on Canadian coins frequently puzzle the beginner. For example, the 1875 "H" dime and the 1884 sell at practically the same price and both are expensive. They begin at $50.00 and end at $475.00 for the first and $450.00 for the latter. Yet the mintage figure of the 1875 is 1,000,000 as compared to 150,000 for the 1884, the lowest number for any Canadian dime. The answer to this is that when a coin is not available it makes no difference what the mintage figure may happen to be. Coins of any given year may be only partially put out, remelted, recalled, or all sorts of things occur. The "holey" shillings of Prince Edward Island went to a low figure when a ship went to the bottom of the ocean that was carrying a large number of the pieces. And so it goes.

Based on the latest figures of the Guide Book of Canadian Coins, a complete set of dimes, had only at the lowest cost, in merely good condition, would still command $500.00 and possibly more. For most of us therefore, type collecting is the best answer.

Editor's Note: The above photo is the genuine Don Lutes 1943 Bronze Cent reproduced in its exact likeness. It has met all tests known and it has been verified as genuine by noted numismatists.

Many may doubt its genuineness, but I am inclined to say it is the real thing. Weighing the facts pro and con the only doubt of it being a fake is the Mint says none was struck which is a poor basis.

The true numismatist can readily see hundreds of other coins being struck on off metal. Thus it should be considered this cent as genuine, and struck on off metal (Bronze Planchet).

If this cannot be so, then all the other coins of the mint error nature and rarities which have been proven genuine, may also be called fakes. Why the partiality exists here is beyond me. I think at this point is a good time where one can define the difference of a collector or numismatist.

BRONZE 1943 CENTS

At the risk of getting into a bailiwick where I don't really belong, and at the further risk of making statements not of the wisest kind, I would still like to make a few observations about the 1943 bronze cent. In common with many others, I have wondered about it.

Our friends of the Mint deny that such a coin was ever struck and it is obviously foolish for anybody to argue the point with officialdom. It certainly is not to be expected that the Mint will ever reach an opposite conclusion. What shall we then believe?

If we are going to believe that such pieces do exist and were actually struck by the Mint, then we must naturally also believe that in some way or other a bronze fillet was used in the making of them. And we must further assume that it was not done by design but was the result of a mischance wherein such a fillet was accidentally put to use. It will then have to be our assumption that a few of such fillets would be on hand and that therefore such a thing could happen. And if not, then I fail to see how the situation could be explained.

This brings us around to the Mint statement that such coins do not exist and I cheerfully agree. However, I only agree in the sense that the Mint has no official knowledge of such pieces and I am willing to believe that the statement was honestly made. Indeed, there is no reason to suppose anything else.

Any number of various factors enter into the situation. The three Mints, working together in 1943, struck the enormous total of 1,093,838,670

THE MOST POPULAR COIN OF THE YEAR!

THE 1955 DOUBLE DIE CENT

Yes, there is no doubt that the 1955 double-die cent is the most popular coin of the year. Ever since its listing for the first time in the 13th edition Guidebook the demand for this coin has been fantastic. This is as it should be as the 1955 double die cent is the most spectacular die error of modern times. Unlike the other twentieth century die errors (the 1942/1 dime, the 1918/7-S quarter, etc.) in which just a part of the coin, the date, is in error, the 1955 double-die cent has the entire obverse die incorrectly cut. There are two of each letters and two dates, one above the other.

As soon as the 1955 double-die cent was listed in the Guidebook (at a low $30 EF and $50 Unc.) the demand for this coin increased tenfold. As a result 1955 double-die cents were soon unobtainable at any price near Guidebook listings. In an effort to obtain 1955 double-die cents we advertised to buy these coins in the major numismatic publications. The specimens obtained were purchased at an average of 1½ Guidebook prices.

If the number of specimens we have seen is any indication, the 1955 double-die cent is at least five times rarer than the 1909-S V.D.B. Even this estimate is probably conservative.

In the future as the rarity of the 1955 double-die cent becomes appreciated this coin should climb much higher than its present price. The 1955 double-die cent is the most spectacular die error of this century. In addition it is part of the most popular series of U. S. coins — Lincoln cents. In short, from an investment viewpoint, the 1955 double-die cent has everything in its favor.

While our small stock lasts we offer 1955 double-die cents at the following prices. These are choice specimens which have never been cleaned. Your satisfaction is guaranteed.

cent pieces. I respectfully submit that this is an appalling number of coins. And if we should imagine that as many as 10,000 bronze cents were actually struck, and actually put in circulation, then I believe they would be quite as much lost among the multitude as a drop of water is lost in the ocean. We need not be told that very few people, except for a few collectors, and not even all of them, take the trouble to scrutinize all the cent pieces that they get in one way or another. It is a point which I think should be kept in mind.

And then there is another thing. I happen to know that the Royal Canadian Mint had no end of trouble during the war years with personnel that was not too efficient. The Mint lost many of its best and most experienced workers and those who replaced them had to learn a great many things. And if this be true, and it certainly is, then it is my assumption that the United States Mint did not escape scatheless. And I argue from this that a mischance of the kind that I have mentioned is certainly within the realm of possibility.

You may now say that such coins could not get past inspection. I do not agree. We certainly know, all of us, that freak coins of all sorts manage to get through inspection and some collectors even make a business of collecting them. Canada has almost no freak coins; we have a great many. Why? Because we put coins out, especially the cent, in such overwhelming numbers as to make anything like minute inspection out of the question.

Any argument that is based on the theory of cleverly executed counterfeits gets into all sorts of trouble. I am not going to say that such a thing is impossible, but I do maintain that it is highly improbable. Not too long ago an inspired gentleman counterfeited our dollars so successfully as to well nigh defy detection. The only trouble was that they were too heavy and it was discovered that he was actually making better money than the Mint; that is, his dollars had a higher silver content than was required.

We are told that the first bronze 1943 cent was discovered by a California lad who had a paper route, that he had a large number of cents in a jar, and that he discovered it among them. Is it possible under these circumstances to suppose that it was a well executed counterfeit? Of course, if you wish to believe some other story, it is a different matter. But I assume that the account of the finding is true.

Certainly enough, my argument may be as full of holes as Swiss cheese but until a better one is brought forth, then I may as well believe my own. I assuredly am not going to be foolish enough to suppose that I have said the last word. I hope nobody more open to reason than I am and there is surely no axe for me to grind in this instance.

There are all sorts of things in the world of money that will never be explained and never can be. Nevertheless, we cannot help but wonder and perhaps even a poor explanation is better than none at all. And if the coin referred to is indeed a counterfeit, then certainly it is a masterpiece.

Once in a while something comes up which is in defiance of all ordinary rules. For example, there is one known case, and only one, in which the paper money of the United States was so successfully counterfeited as to defy detection. I regret my inability to recall the name of this misguided genius. This particular man was an expert engraver who solved the paper problem by bleaching out genuine notes on which he printed his spurious currency. The Secret Service was never able to prove that he did any counterfeiting.

And what finally happened to him? His bleaching secret died with him in San Quentin where he ended his days. And he was put in San Quentin on the charge of writing bad checks at a time when he must have had several millions put away in various banks. He didn't even stop with the money of the United States for he counterfeited the money of England, France, and Italy. But like too many, he never knew the meaning of enough. Sic transit gloria pecunia.*

*So passes away the glory of money.

NUMISMATIC EXPERIENCES

Earl A. McBrayer

The other day I was peacefully promoting good neighborhood relations by throwing small rocks at the large dog burying a bone among my plants when the phone rang. I hurried up the steps into the house, pausing only to fall on my face over my three-year-old daughter's bicycle, which had been placed with careful calculation inside the door.

Naturally I was in a perfect frame of mind when the voice on the phone informed me that she had a genuine two-headed Jefferson nickel. It was worth a thousand dollars a local stamp dealer had happily assured her over the phone. Could I come right over and see it, the voice asked?

I stopped for a moment to consider whether I should resume my rock throwing, look up my daughter and deliver a lecture on bicycles and their proper places, or drive a few streets over and save the lady from spending a thousand dollars she would never see. I decided to look at the nickel to see what the latest numismatic inventors had come up with this time.

I'm far from being an engineer but it looked like a perfect job of creating a "heads I win—tails you lose" flipping coin with a 1939 Jefferson head on both sides. Under a high power glass I could not see any signs of two halves being joined. So I thanked the lady and was about to leave, after advising her to take the coin to an expert, when she pulled out a bag of change.

About $10.00 worth of common cents, nickels, and dimes vintage 1916-1930 rolled on the kitchen table. Right in the middle of the pile, all selected from grocery and dry-cleaner change, was a nice, collectable 1931-S cent! She was happy to sell the coin for a reasonable offer and I went home determined to stop throwing rocks long enough to look at any two-headed nickels that turned up henceforth!

FAR AWAY PLACES

A QUIZ — By Harold Don Allen

Ever stop, while sorting through some foreign bills, and wonder, "Now where on Earth is this one from?" If so, you will enjoy looking over our second group of "toughies," a continuation on the picture quiz which proved popular with our readers in March and April.

Of the five notes selected for this second quiz, only one, a release of the Banque de l'Indochine, carries easily-legible Roman-style lettering on the face. Since this bank has far-flung operations in the Pacific its name is no clue, and you may find yourself reaching for an atlas to locate the name of the country where it was released.

Again, COIN NEWS offers a prize for the five correct answers, with the earliest postmark deciding in the event of a tie. Several, admittedly, are fairly easy—for this series. On the others, a good guess just might be right.

Unusual is the fact that only one of the notes carries the name of the security printer involved in production, but the unusual serial numbers on the Banque de l'Indochine suggest that it might be Australian work.

Try these five, and see next month's COIN NEWS for answers.

In preparation is a new, more ambitious quiz for "FAR AWAY PLACES," in which portions will be reproduced of interesting foreign notes, with key words of Roman lettering concealed.

Dear Frank,

Got to get this off my chest, as the saying goes.

Three cheers and a big hurrah. I just received my copy of your coin journal, and as usual I first read your column "From Your Editor's Desk."

The cheers and hurrah are for your article where you state you're going to change the name.

I'm practically a charter subscriber to your coin journal, having all copies from the first up to present date.

Opinions expressed by writers of articles, columns, comments, etc. in this magazine are their own and do not necessarily represent the views of the editors or officers.

When writing for information to dealers or collectors, be kind enough to enclose a stamp for a response. It's been my pleasure to say practically all dealers and collectors are honest and fair. No trades are final until both parties are satisfied. On purchases it is customary to give at least a 3 day satisfactory refund.

No reply in 7 days, transaction considered accepted.

GRADING STANDARD

PROOF — Coin, a mirror-like finish, especially struck for collectors on polished metal blanks and struck by slower hydraulic press to obtain best feature lines.

UNCIRCULATED — made for general circulation has lustre but never reaches circulation. A Gem

Unc. is unusually well struck, has lustre, no scratches, rubbings or marks.

EXTRA FINE & A. U.—about same. Coin is about uncirculated, slightly worn on high points and may have some mint lustre.

V. Fine—Has been circulated but all features and lettering are sharp.

Fine—Has all features and lettering but not sharp. Liberty is readable.

V.G.—Has border rims, most features and lines visible. Part of Liberty visible.

GOOD—All features and lines worn but visible.

FAIR—Considerably worn.

POOR — Considerably worn smooth, or corroded, good only as space filler.

This grading is used only as a guide to help you and is a general medium used by all dealers and collectors in the Numismatic field.

POINTS TO LOOK FOR ON SOME POPULAR COINS

1 CENT LINCOLN: The lines on wheat stalk and Lincoln's ear are a good spot to look for wear. On a coin classed as very good most lines should be showing, on a coin graded fine they should be clear.

5 CENT LIBERTY: E Pluribus Unum is legible on coins graded good, clear on coins graded very good. One graded fine should have full liberty.

5 CENT BUFFALO: On a good coin edge of word Liberty may be slightly worn, but on one graded very good the word Liberty is clear and one-half of horn shows, a fine coin should have nearly a full horn, a coin classed as very fine has full horn and tail shows on hip.

10 CENT MERCURY: Watch lines on axes faces, on coins classed very good some lines show, a fine coin should have all lines.

FOR BEGINNERS who are just starting to collect, here are a few suggestions and some advice. First, a coin guide book is a must. They can be purchased for $1.00 or more for helpful information: on care, condition, value, amount minted, types, how coins are made, and other news of help and interest. Most coins can be found in circulation. As you are making your set always try to improve the worn coins. Value of coins depends greatly on the condition. Never clean or polish coins unless you are experienced. If you must try, use a common date coin. There are handy cleaning kits available for this purpose. Coin insert folders and other supplies can be obtained at your dealer. You may also notice that the age of old coins do not make them rare. There are some late date coins minted that are worth more than some hundreds of years old. What makes one coin worth more than another are by these factors: Amount of coins minted, availability, collectors demand and any unusual die strikes. Coins can be obtained through purchases, by auction or trading with collectors. Mint sets can be bought by writing the Treasury Dept., U.S. Office of Treasury, Washington 25, D.C., at face value, plus postage and handling. To obtain Proof Sets of current year send $2.10 money order to Supt. Phila. Mint, 16th and Spring Garden Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. You may order up to 100 sets per person. Commemorative half dollars are authorized periodically by Congress. These halves when issued are not sold by the mints. They are turned over to a Commission authorized by Congress at face value. The Commission then sells the halves at a premium.

"OFF CENTER MINT ERRORS"

James Palmer of Greenfield, Mass. submitted the above photos to show our readers his recent find. They are 1959-D cents struck on a blank planchet. The mint error collector would call this 2/3 off center Kolit position nine or 9 o'clock. The value would be whatever the market would bring, possibly up to $15.00.

LICENSED COIN-STAMP TEST CASE

To be or not to be a licensed dealer is the question. Authorities looking for more revenue to balance the budget are thinking of same. Such a move would hurt the hobby and drive dealers out of business. A licensed dealer is required to list each and every item in stock, as a second hand dealer or antique dealer. To list stock such as common coins or stamps would be a useless, costly thing.

The profit in such a sale is more the service than the product, the accounting and expense would reach staggering figures that it would bankrupt any dealer. We suggest leave us hobbyists alone! Such a venture would gain authorities nothing.

A recent test case was made by the N. Y. C. Police Dept. to force dealers to secure licenses. Gimbel's Stamp-Coin Dept. was picked for the test. Police officers bought a stamp packet and 1959 cent prior to filing charges.

Magistrate Maurice Downing dismissed the defendants on June 15, 1959.

READERS NOTE, HELP NEEDED

ON 1893 ROUND TOP CANADIAN 10c

We have recently inspected what we believe is another 1893 round top Canadian 10c. Nick Salimbene of Newark, N. J. claims to have acquired another. Believe it or not it could be the second one he has handled. The first one he had was in VF, this one is in good. I believe this coin to be under rated and priced. I have heard or seen in sales only 3 in the past few years. This coin in my opinion deserves some research and an article. I have inspected two and it appears there is a definite reason for its rarity and shortage, there is also a definite variety mainly the (3) is known to be weakly struck. I don't believe a unc. one exists. Although it lists for $500. it could well be $5,000. I now have bits of information on this coin and hope to write it up in our next issue, we solicit any information that anyone may have on this rare coin, all owners names and a photo of it, so we may be able to give a complete as possible article on it. Please write to the Editor, comments or information available. The coin itself would be of the greatest help if in better grade.

ALBERTA PROSPERITY CERTIFICATE by J. E. Charlton

During a period of depression various kinds of emergency money are issued and the depression of the early 1930's was no exception. A very popular numismatic item in this category is the Alberta Government's Prosperity Certificate which was about the same size and color as a Canadian $1 bill, and dated August 5, 1936. On the face of the certificate was the inscription "The Provincial Treasurer will pay to the bearer the sum of One Dollar on the expiration of two years from date of issue hereof, upon presentation hereof, provided that there are then attached to the back hereof, one hundred and four one-cent certificate stamps." This meant that a special one cent stamp had to be past on each week before it could be passed on. Two years later with 104 stamps on the reverse side it could be redeemed for one dollar.

The notes were put in circulation as payments to men on unemployment relief who were employed on road construction and the purpose was to increase purchasing power and accelerate the velocity of business.

The prosperity certificates met with a poor reception by the public retailers, wholesalers and banks. Many refused to accept them as they were not legal tender or lawful money.

As a result many of these notes remained in the hands of the original owners as interesting souvenirs.

Mr. Lewis Reagan, General Secretary of the ANA, is shown looking over what appears as a sheet of Broken Bank notes.

JUST ONE MAN'S OPINION

The Carson City Dollars are the most underpriced series of all coins minted.

All one has to do is check the number minted of each year and you will see that there will never be enough to supply our five (5) million or more (est.) collectors.

Take the 1885 with only 228,000 minted. This would be one for about every twenty-one collectors.

Second comes the 1881 with only 296,000 and so on.

I have a few sets of the 1880 through 1885 complete in Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

For set of six (6) $27.95

Below are my prices for single coins . . . all Brilliant Uncirculated.

1878 CC Proof Surf.	6.00	1882 CC	4.75	1885 CC	6.50
1880 CC	7.50	1883 CC	4.75	1890 CC	5.50
1881 CC	6.50	1884 CC	4.75	1891 CC	5.50

My second offering for this month is, in my opinion, a small set with a future. The War Time Silver Nickel consisting of 11 coins minted 1942 to 1945. (See Red Book.) This set in Brilliant Uncirculated is beautiful and also underpriced in this booming coin market.

My price for the complete set is $9.95 Only until present stock is sold.

The 1943-D is of course in this set and this is one that I compare in value to the 1942-D which is selling today for $4.50 each.

Hello everybody. I am back again. As most of my customers know I was in the hospital. I had to send all orders back. My partner is what you might call an apprentice in this business, that is why all orders were returned. He didn't want to make any errors.

As a favor to me and all other coin dealers or whoever you order from please put your correct return address on your letter.

Thank you.

LETTERS FROM THE READERS

Dear Mr. Spadone:

Enclosed you will find my check for $21.00 for a two column ad to be inserted in the next issue of the Flying Eaglet.

I have been subscribing to the Flying Eaglet for a few years now and I have watched it grow from a pamphlet to a first rate numismatic magazine. Congratulations to you.

Incidentally, I have every copy of the Flying Eaglet I have received put up in book form with hard covers. It's about the size of a large phone book right now and growing with every issue.

Yours is one of the finest publications in its field and I heartily recommend it to all those interested in the hobby of numismatics.

COMMENTS—

"I considered it an excellent publication. We like the enlarged illustrations. You are to be commended on issuing such a fine handbook at a reasonable price." Vernon L. Brown - Curator, Museum of Monies of the World, Chase Manhattan Bank, Rockefeller Centre, New York.

"This is a most useful acquisition for the Canadian Series and we are greatly in your debt." R. H. M. Dolly, Assistant Keeper, Dept. of Coins and Medals, British Museum, London W. C. 1.

"The book seems to me to be quite excellent in its detail and its format. It is certainly easier to use than others that have appeared on Canadian Coins." D. F. Spink, Spink & Son Ltd., London, England.

"About once in a life time a new worthy Coin Catalogue is issued. This is it!" R. C. Lawrence, The Coin Collector, Anamosa, United States, May 20th, 1959.

"It appears to me that it would be just what the collector of Canadian Coins would need for a handbook." Lee F. Hewitt, Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine, Chicago, Illinois.

"This attractive colourful edition appears to be the best on the market for the Canadian Collector, it is packed with numerous photos and information." The Flying Eagle, June 6th, 1959, Newark, New Jersey.

"It is the kind of thing that I have had in mind for a long time—makeup, format and presentation of subject is excellent. Paper Money illustrations and information are valuable." Starr Gilmore, Spokane, Washington.

MODERN FOREIGN COINS

More and more collectors are becoming "world minded" where their hobby is concerned.

Why not you? If you are bored, foreign coins can renew your interest. They cover such a broad field that you can collect what you want and spend what you want, ending up with something even a non-collector is interested in.

You might even learn some history, geography, and a smattering of foreign languages.

If you are throwing some side-glances in the direction of MODERN FOREIGN COINS, you will have the best possible start with my current price lists. No charge, of course.

LETTERS FROM THE READERS

I think your new title "Coin News" is a good one and I am sure it will meet with public approval and will be successful. Best wishes in this respect.

Empire Coin Co., Inc., N. Y.

Dear Sir,

I have been a coin collector only a short time and possibly would like to subscribe to the Flying Eaglet Magazine.

Enclosed is 35c for a sample copy of the Flying Eaglet Numismatic Magazine.

Possibly you would like to know about a good find that I made since becoming a collector about 5 months ago. The week end of Memorial Day when I made a trip back to my hometown in Kansas, I was looking through 500 pennies and found a very fine 1909S-vdb cent. This week end found a couple nice buffalo nickels: 1916 ef and 1934 unc. with most of the mint luster. Other finds but not nearly so good as these.

Orville E. Carter

St. Charles, Mo.

Dear Sir,

I am a collector since February 1958, and a member of your interesting magazine for over a year. I think your magazine is tops in its field.

But what I want to write about is "Reader's Rare Find," in March 1959. Friday night, I went to the bank, picked up five rolls of nickels and one roll of fifty cent, in the fifty cent roll, to my big surprise, I find the 1947ML curved to the right in fine condition. It's the top piece of my collection. H. Don Allen can certify the piece. He says it must have refuse twenty offers of up to one hundred fifty for it.

IT COULDN'T HAPPEN,
BUT IT DID

A penny wouldn't fit in a parking meter so A. Byars of 422 No. Humboldt St., Fresno, Calif., traded the man a penny which would fit. The "misfit" coin is a double struck 1865 Indian Head with lustre.
